"_That's where you are wrong." the leader said coldly "Kazuki Asou was kidnapped when his family came to london on a business trip. Kazuki is not related to you and since he was found in your __CARE _"

"_You're wrong! We have a letter stating that he is our nephew and that his parents are dead!" yelled the walrus_

"_Your word means nothing!" hissed the leader_

_In the distance they could hear the sirens and cop cars heading in their direction._

"_Sir we detained the wife and had their child put in a separate room." said one of the agents_

"_Good don't let any of them out of your sight."_

'_Your honor blood test show that the child is not in anyway related to the Dursleys and is in fact the son of the Asou's."_

"_There has to be a mistake!" yelled Mr Dursley_

"_How is that Mr DURSLEY?" the judge hissed_

"_He was left on our front porch with a letter saying that he was our nephew and that his parents are dead. My wife's sister and her husband had a funeral for christ sake."_

"_Even with the evidence that he was left in your care after his kidnapping. You deliberatly beat and starved a child. Whether it is your own flesh or not you and your familiy will go to jail and you son to your sister's home." SAid the Judge slamming down his mallet "Mr. Dursley You have put a child into a coma who is not even four years of age. You are sentenced to 30 years to life without parole."

The judge turns away and walks out of the room enraged after seeing the pictures and medical reports of the
